DON'T HAVE TO TELL.

A suit was filed at Bowling Green Monday by R. E. Jones vs. members of the Democratic State Executive Committee enjoining them from enforcing the rule requiring a voter to state he had voted for the Democratic nominee for Congress before he would be allowed to vote in the primary.
The suit also declares against nominating a United States Senator at a primary election.

Immediately following the filing of the suit, the Committee met in Louisville, rescinded their ruling in regard to requiring a voter to state that he had voted for the Democratic nominee for Congress and substituted the following clause in the place of the ruling requiring the statement from the voter as mentioned above:

"Resolved, That all known Democrats who will be legal voters on the 6th day of November, 1906, and who have registered as Democrats in precincts where registration is required by law, and who shall have first voted in the general election held upon said day for a member of Congress, shall be entitled to vote in said primary."

This hasty action of the committee plainly shows that the members were fully aware, when they made the former ruling, it was contrary to law and an open violation of the constitution of the State. But the Machine cares nothing for law or constitution as long as their methods are not questioned. However, the people have grown tired of corruption at the polls and in public office. The death knell of machine politics has been sounded in Kentucky. On November 6th, the once powerful Machine will be cast out of the general election.

JUST AS TEMPERATE.

In one of his recent speeches, Gov. Beckham is credited with saying: "I am just as temperate as Senator McCreary." It was, indeed, a surprise for us to hear such words from the Governor.
In that sentence he recognizes his need of defending his own personal record, and, more than that, he only attempts to appear on the same moral level with Senator Mc-Creary. He, who is standing on his record for temperance and appealing for the Christian vote of the State, to only claim to be as temperate as the man, who he claims represents the whisky interests. This is the highest compliment paid to Senator McCreary's personal record since the opening of the campaign.

But is Governor Beckham as temperate as Senator McCreary?
No one but one's self knows just how temperate one is. Gov. Beckham does not know how much alcoholic beverages Senator Mc-Creary consumes, if any, and no one knows how much the Governor consumes. We have but one method of judging—by appearances and reports. Senator Mc-Creary is an old man compared to Gov. Beckham, but he is a picture of health and vigor. The most of our readers have seen Gov. Beckham. If he is as temperate as Senator McCreary he does not show evidences of it.

Having received notice that we

The Clearfield Lumber Co., of Clearfield, Pa., is pushing the work on the West Liberty and Morehead railroad, which they recently purchased, and have 300 men at work on the road. Since beginning work on the road three miles out from Morehead the workmen have cut through two big hills and are moving rapidly ahead. There has now been graded and ready for ties about twelve or fifteen miles of the road, and tracklaying is going on. The work will be pushed very fast and the contractors hope to have the road completed to Bud Brown's, in Morgan county, by January 1st.
The Clearfield Lumber Company owns about 17,000 acres of timberlands at the terminus of the road, line will be built on to West Lib-or not.

The Farmer and the Trust.

During the past ten or fifteen years organized capital and organized labor have waged a constant battle for supremacy. To-day these two great forces stand on equal ground and the fight continues. The price on all kinds of labor has advanced nearly 100 per cent. and the trusts have amassed incalculable fortunes. From where has this enormous amount of wealth sprung? Only a small per cent. can be accounted for by the increased exports. The figures of these suddenly acquired fortunes far exceed the increase in the advance of wages. The trusts have organized, against powerful organizations. As a result we find the following conditions: Farm laborers are scarce and often slothful; they are constantly demanding higher wages and shorter working hours; the drift of the farm laborers to the city is rapid. The farmer needs better help; he is not able to pay the demanded increase and consequently is unable to retain the best men he now has employed.

For years the farmer has revolted at the idea of organization. It means restrictions and complications to which he is unused; he will be no longer independent, but a part of a great machine. He would much rather allow supply and demand to regulate prices. Organized capital has charge of the markets; supply and demand effect the market to a certain degree at present; but these are only items to the controlling power.

The farmer must meet the opposing forces by counter organization or be overcome by poverty. As yet there has been no organization formed that meets the needs of the farmer. It will take years of experimenting to discover the best method of organizing. The various granges and farmers' associations springing up over the country are evidences that the farmer recognizes his need and is preparing to supply it.

The statement has often been made that the farmer is too ignorant to organize. This is wholly untrue. As a class the farmers are intellectually superior to the laborers in the city, better read and broader minded. Co-operation demands only common sense and a spirit of honesty. In these qualifications the farmers are the strongest of any class in America.

It would be impossible, at the present time to outline an organization, suitable to the farmers' needs, but it must be along broad and liberal lines. However it is possible to predict the effect of such an organization. While it will restrict the farmer and limit his personal independence it will place in his hands a lever of power such as the world has never before known. Starvation will be his weapon, and the cities will be forced to disgorge the share of gold they have unrightfully taken. But power brings with it responsibility and the management of such an organization must be made up of wise and honest men, or else it can only terminate in a revolution.

Case Reopened.

A dispatch to the Courier-Journal from Mt. Sterling, dated October 10, says: J. R. Hainline, J. D. Greenwade, L. T. Chiles, J. Kelly, J. Johnson and E. T. Taulbee, who it is claimed, were elected Democratic committeemen by Democrats of their respective precincts one year ago and deprived of office by James Hargis, member of the Democratic State Central Committee from the Tenth district, have petitioned Hon. Lewis McQuown and the members of the Democratic State Central Committee for a rehearing of their cases. The petition is a red-hot one, and charges that they were cheated and robbed of the offices without due process of law, and they now demand that a rehearing be had, and that they be restored to the offices to which they declare they were honestly elected. The petition further says:

"We do not come as supplicants but demand that that which has been taken from us forcibly and without right be restored. We feel that there are some honest and decent men on this committee, and know of a few, and we believe in view of the recent hearing given James Hargis that this committee will not rely solely on the statement of a man who was seventy-five miles away at the time of the election and who knew nothing about it. We were never given by your committee a fair and just hearing. The committee (at least a majority) has been appointed by the committee, and the committee, the four members, are reluctant to settle their troubles with the representatives. A general pardon has been issued freeing the rebels from all charges for offenses committed against the former Cuban Government.

An epidemic of yellow fever has broken out and is endangering the American troops.

Although the officials declare it is the intention of the United States to restore Cuba to her former position, it is very probable that ultimately Cuba will be annexed to the United States.

G. W. We are sorry to have them leave us, but they will swell the list of pleasant folks wherever they go. John Cockerham and Ruth Kincaid are talking of moving to Winchester in the near future. We regret to give up so many of our good people. Lucas & Deaton have just laid in a nice stock of fall and winter goods. The Union people keep adding improvements to their school grounds. They have just put up a nice woven wire fence across the front. They have the location, the house, the children and the teacher. If you don't think this means a school, just step in awhile. The church people of Union hope soon to have a Union church building on the grounds to accommodate the church and Sunday school people of all denominations. If you are really interested, as you say you are, open your purse strings as freely as your lips and we will soon have a commodious building for all. Mrs. Sarah Stamper and Em Dickerson, of Indian Territory, are visiting relatives here, but will soon return to their respective homes. The People Against the Machine.

At the last November election the people of this county won a great victory for law and order and against fraudulent nominations and corrupt politics in general. At the coming November election the issues are the same as last year. The nomination of Hopkins was brought about by the same corrupt methods and by the same machine that "nominated" the Midnight county ticket last year. Be not deceived, Mr. Voter, by the fallacious arguments of the machine. They are trying to make you believe that there are no local issues at stake in this campaign, but the issues, as far as this county is concerned, are local and the same as last year. A vote for Hopkins is an endorsement of the fraud here on July 28th and at Pikeville on August 2nd, and a return to the conditions which have prevailed here for four years prior to last January. Does any "Hogback" want to turn backward? The whole State is looking at us this year as they did last year. If we do not help ourselves, how can we expect others to help us? Let us not turn back or give up the fight but vote against the machine until it is downed. That is the only way to regain and retain our liberties. The machine is going to deceive you if possible.

The beast of burden, when he put on the lion's skin, deceived the animals of the field until he attempted to roar like the king of beasts, but it was only a bray. If the people of this county will do their duty this year as they did last year, the voice of the machine, hereafter will not be a roar but a very faint bray.

Joint Discussion.

The congressional campaign in this county was opened Monday by speeches from candidates Langley and Hopkins. It was a bright sunny day and several hundred people from all parts of the county had gathered to hear the opening discussions. Circulars had been sent to all parts of the county several days previous, announcing that Mr. Langley would be here on Monday. These were followed by circulars announcing Mr. Hopkins' speech at the same time and place, consequently the people of this county, throughout the county, were present at the meeting.
